

World War I recruiting poster by James Montgomery Flagg, 1917.

World War I poster asking Americans to save food for the war effort.

Paul C. Stahr, 1918.

World War I poster asking women to help the war effort by participating in the 2nd Liberty Loan. R.H. Porteous, 1917.

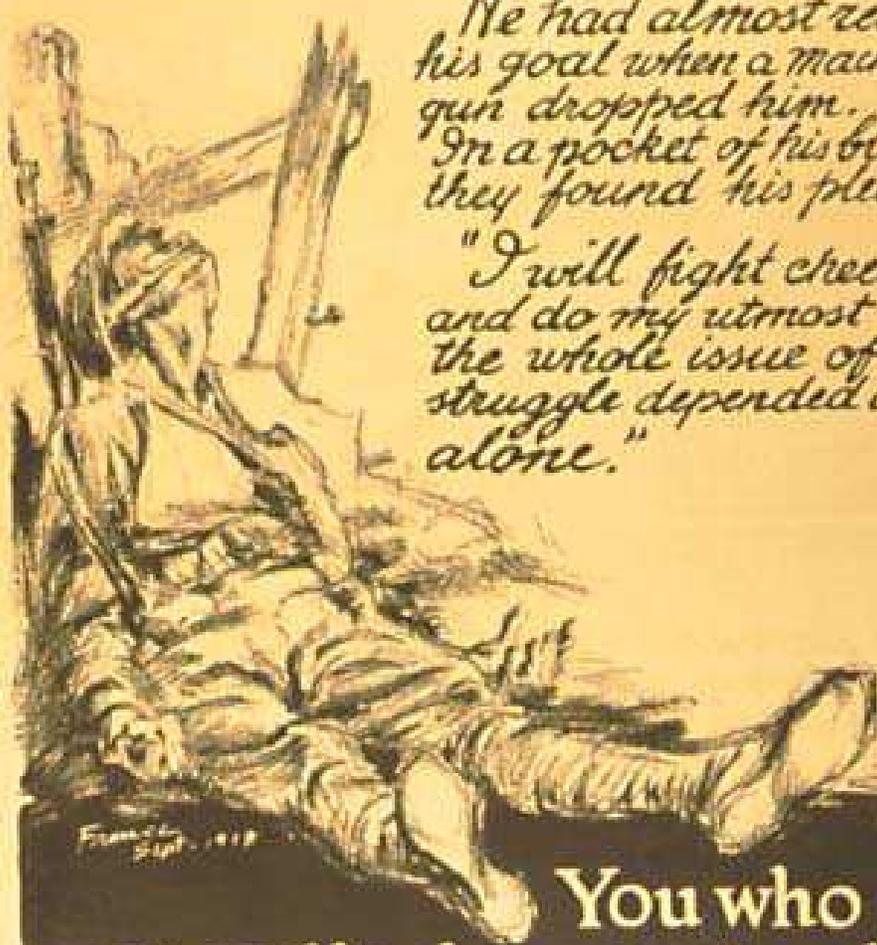

World War I poster promoting 3rd Liberty Loan. Henry Raleigh, 1918.

World War I poster promoting 4th Liberty Loan. Cyrus LeRoy Baldridge, 1918.

STRAIGHT FROM THE TRENCHES - DEDICATED AND PRINTED FOR THE LIBERTY LOAN COMMITTEE, OFFICE AT HEADQUARTERS OF THE AMERICAN EXPERIMENTAL BANK.

Pvt. TREPTOW'S PLEDGE

He had almost reached his goal when a machine gun dropped him. In a pocket of his blouse they found his pledge:

"I will fight cheerfully and do my utmost as if the whole issue of the struggle depended on me alone."

Franklin D. Roosevelt
Sept. 1918

You who are not called upon to die—
Subscribe to the

FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN

PRINTED AND DONATED BY ALBERT GAR CONNOR, BROOKLYN, N. Y.

World War I poster asking Americans to join the Red Cross. Howard Chandler Christy, 1918.

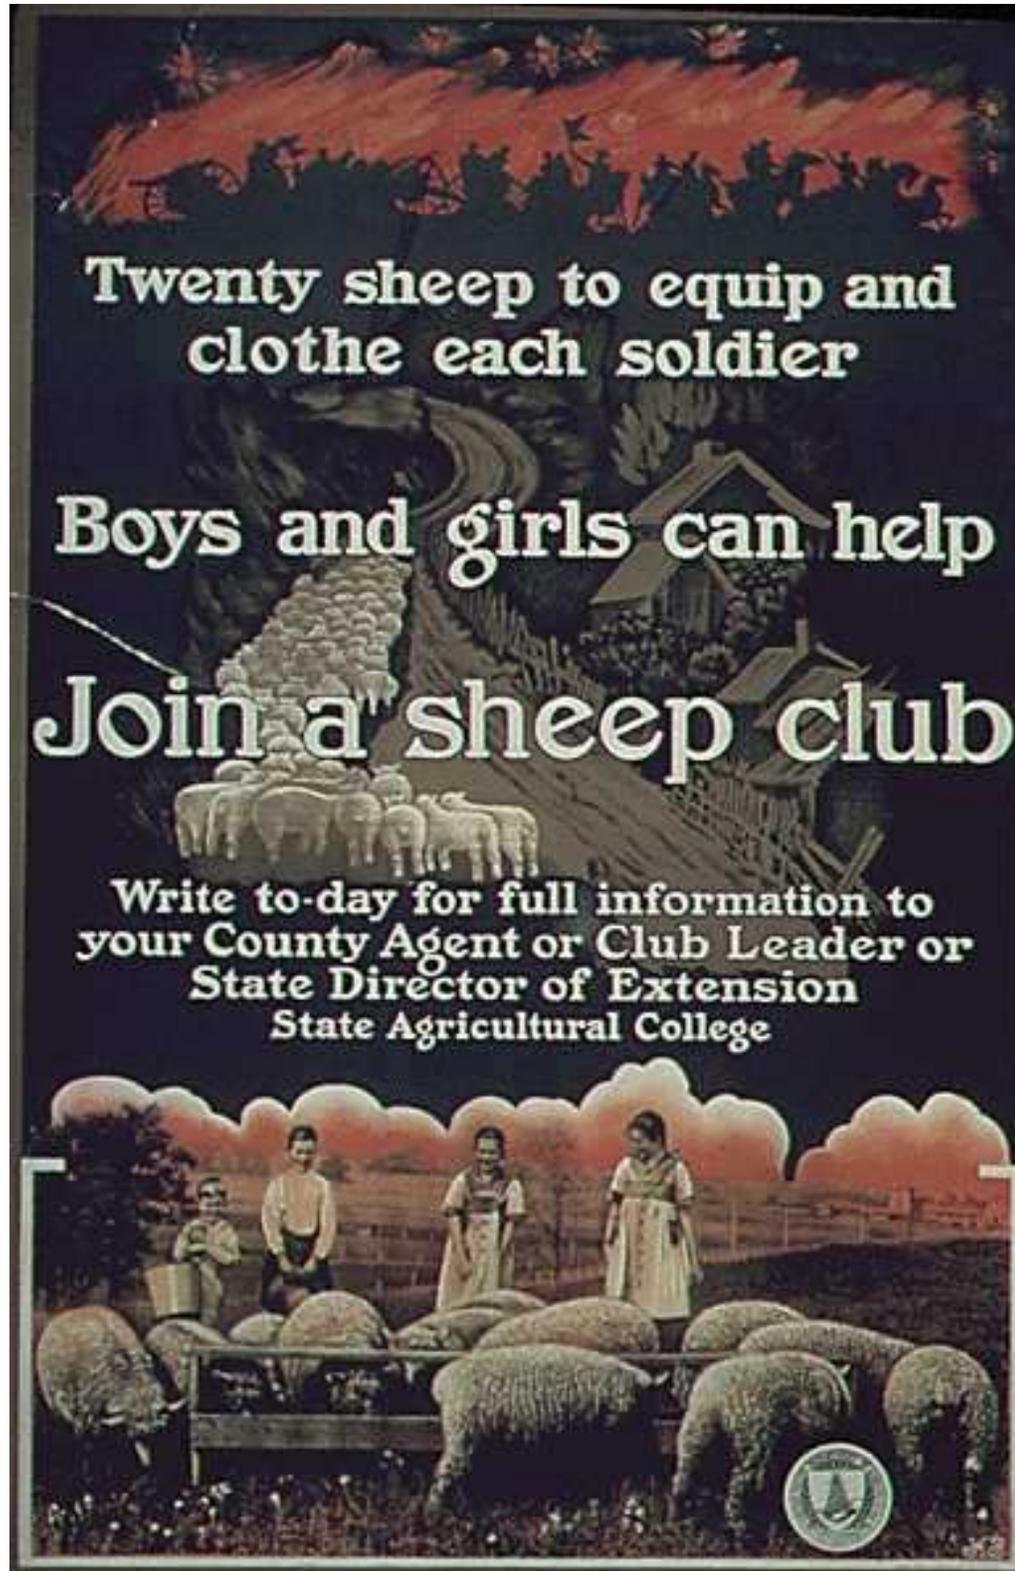

World War I recruiting poster. Uncle Sam says, "I Want You." 1917

World War I poster asking all Americans to become involved in the war effort. 1917.

World War I poster asks children to join a sheep club so they can raise the animals to help clothe soldiers. 1918.

World War I poster - U.S. Navy recruiting poster. 1918.

Photo: suffragist standing outside the White House during World War I carrying poster that compares President Wilson to Kaiser Wilhelm II of Germany. Advocates women's rights in the U.S.

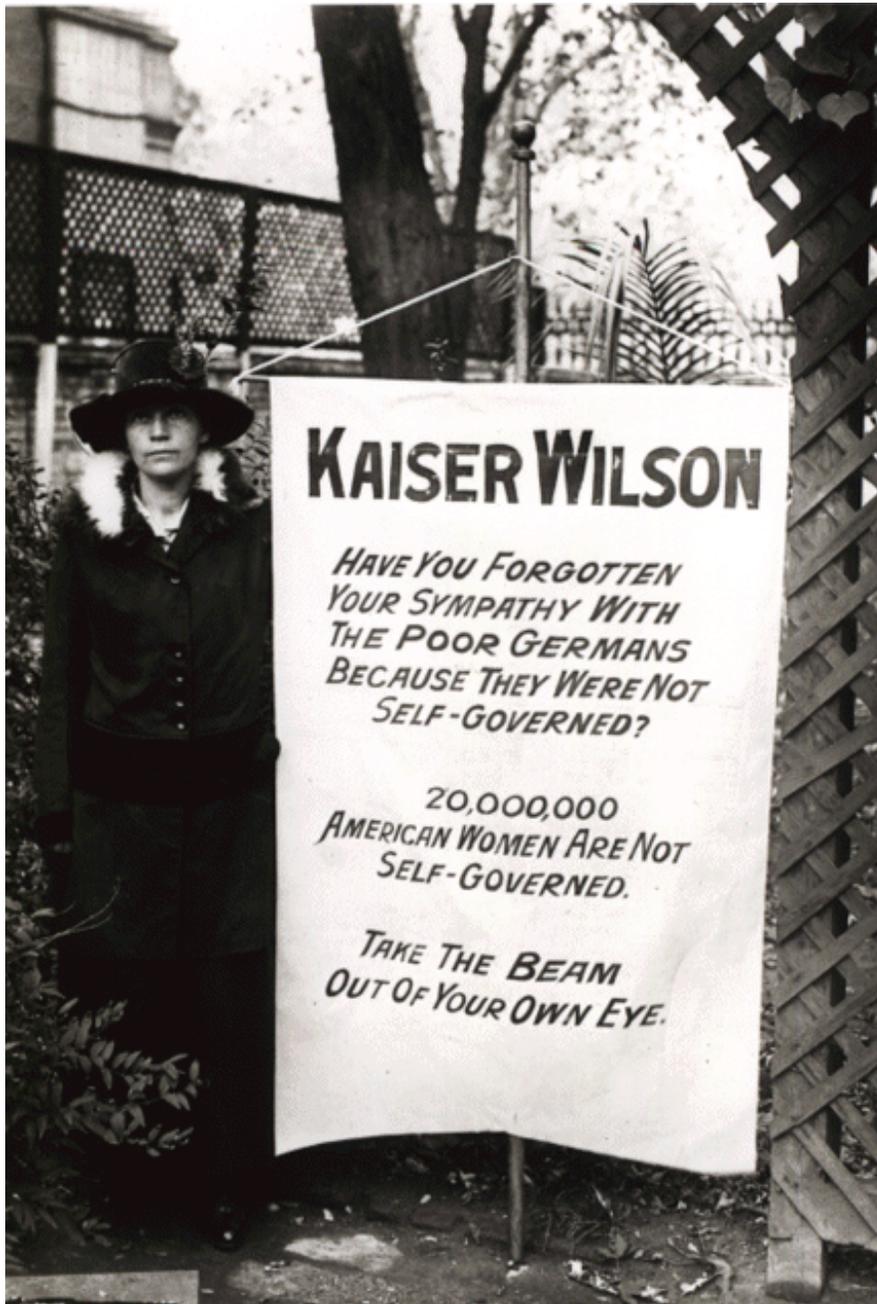

Photo of a British plane wrecked in a tree - World War I

Photo of soldiers in France digging a trench.

U.S. female Red Cross volunteers working in France

Photo of early British tank crossing a trench - World War I

Photo of U.S. Marines wearing gear to protect against poison gas - World War I

Photo of underground hospital in Verdun. Dog is a unit mascot. 1918.

British rations arriving by camel, 1917

